RE: Mastafa et al. v. AWB Limited et al.

Dear Mr. Cameron:

This letter responds to your inquiry regarding the position of BNP Paribas (the "Bank") with respect to the dismissal of the captioned lawsuit in favor of Australia pursuant to the doctrine of forum non conveniens. As will be described in detail in the Bank's memorandum of law in support of its motion to dismiss Plaintiffs' Class Action Complaint to be filed on December 14, 2007, the Bank believes that the captioned lawsuit should be dismissed pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) and 12(b)(6) because Plaintiffs lack constitutional standing to pursue the claims asserted, because the district court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over Plaintiffs' claims and because Plaintiffs have failed to and cannot state a claim against the Bank. However, should the Court resolve this matter on forum non conveniens grounds, the Bank has no objection to the captioned lawsuit being dismissed in favor of Australia.

Sincerely,

Jennifer L. Spaziano
